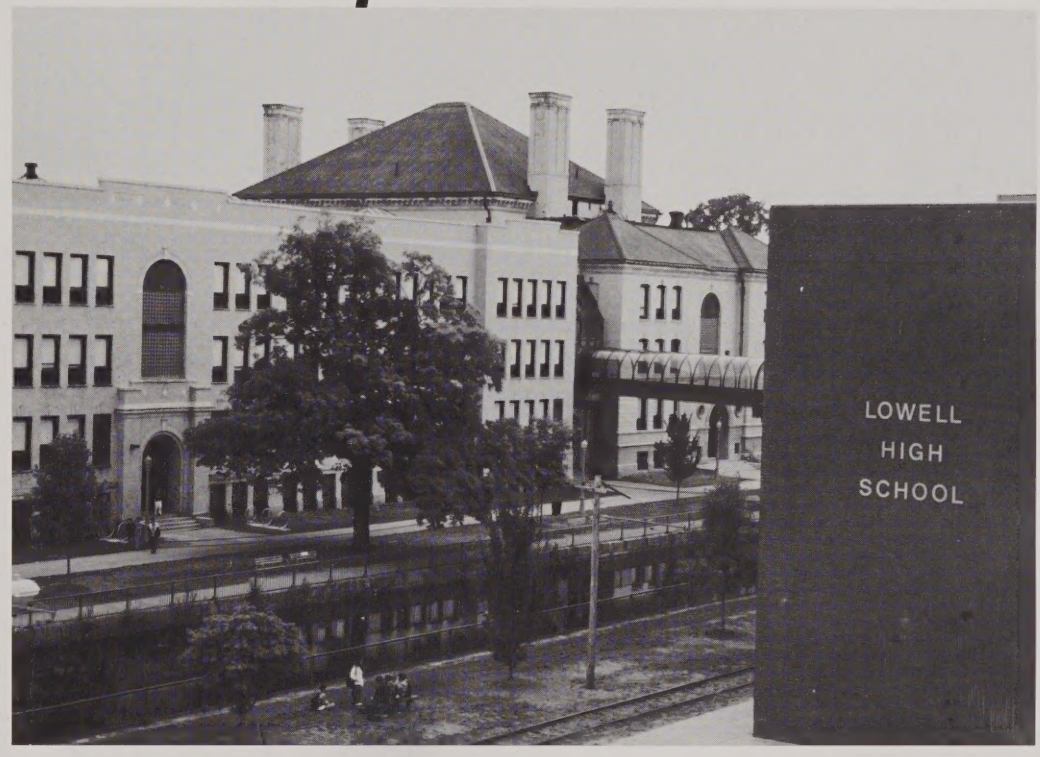
The Spindle '96



Reflections Upon Graduating From Lowell High

Four years, one high school and a lifetime of memories; this was our time at Lowell High School. Our school meant much more than education. We are reminded of the trolley going by, as it sent slight vibrations while the ground calmly shook. The grand old clock on Kirk Street, our emblem, like many clocks at LHS didn't work any longer. A little diner called Arthur's instilled in our lives both adventure and cuisine. We leave behind a building called Lowell High School, where the graduating class of 1996 created enough other memories to last an eternity.

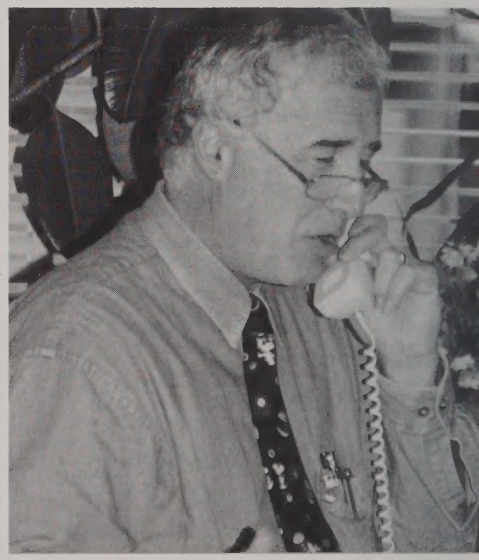
The Headmaster's Office

Taking Charge in a School Community of 3,000+

Headmaster William Samaras
As # 1 in charge, he took on the daily task of managing a population larger than many small towns. Four years in the position qualified him as veteran at the helm of the second largest high school in the state of Massachusetts.

" I appreciate your repeated calls, but there is no possible way I can take the position of Superintendent of Schools in Phoenix.... Of course I know the salary would be double!...Yes, I understand that comes with a condominium and a Lexus...I agree your weather is perfect!...But, you're simply going to have to find someone else... I like the challenges offered by Lowell High School!"



Master in the Main Office

Second in Command
Dr. David Moorehouse, left, served as Master of Lowell High School.

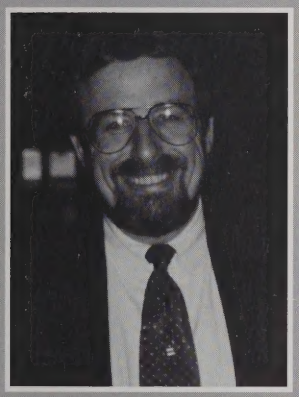
Gerald Leblanc

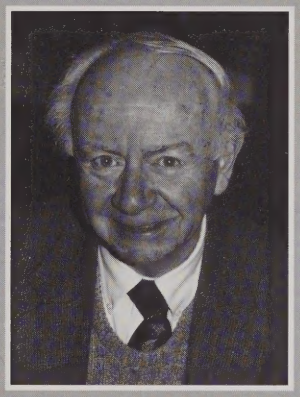
" I offer you a little advice and a sincere wish...Always conduct yourself with dignity and honor. I wish you success and happiness and above all, I wish you peace."



B

James Considine

"You are the future and I wish you health and happiness to enjoy your future."



C

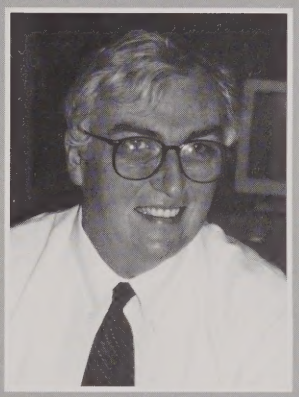
Patricia Kealy

"Congratulations to the class of 1996. You have made great strides over the last four years. I applaud you and urge you to continue your efforts to improve yourselves and your world."

D

David Conway

" You now enter the world as strong individuals, seeking to pursue the goals that LHS helped you to form. Remember, stay true to those goals; never give up on yourself and your dreams."



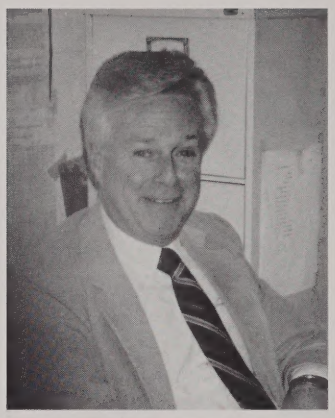
LHS Housemasters

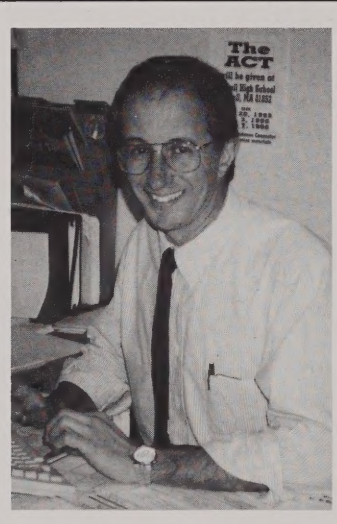
A Meeting with the Headmaster

Housemasters were ready to go on the first day of school, rested after summer vacation, yet unaware of the strange twists to the year ahead. (Front) David Conway, Gerald Leblanc, Headmaster Samaras;(Back) Pat Kealy and Jim Considine.

Seniors received added attention for graduation, college and the world of work

Lowell High Guidance Department





Our Guidance Counselors 1995-96
Top Row: (L-R) Pasqua Leary, William Merrill, Gerald Dillon, and Mary Leyden
Bottom Row: (L-R) Nancy Humphrey, Jose Soares, Kathleen Durkin and Vannorath Sarin.

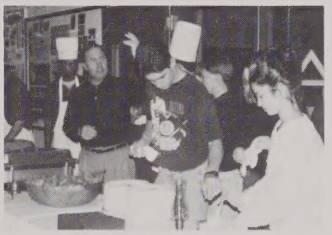
New Leadership
Nelson Burns was hired early in the school year as the new Director of Guidance. The position was reinstated at LHS for 1995-96, following many years without a department head.

Essential to senior life, Walter Nelson did it all... What, me worry?

Student Activities Advisor

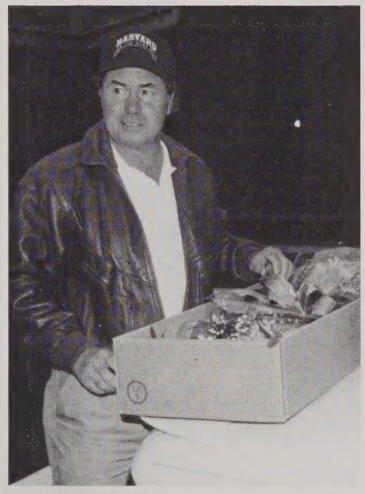
Meeting with eager Student Government volunteers to plan Opening Day activities.

Leading the Orientation Day festivities at Boardinghouse Park...at home on the mike.



Commanding the troops at the Teacher Appreciation Dinner before Open House.

Coordinating the lineup for the teacher yearbook centerfold. Sharing a bench with esteemed colleagues.



There was always something... monthly Student Government meetings, award nights and banquets for academics and sports, coordinating Homecoming, escorting foreign visitors, doing the tardies every morning, arranging formals and semi-formals for 450, conducting tours...
Also, the contests, LHS club events, fundraising, ticket sales, Toys for Tots, Student City Government Day, Spirit Week, Pep Rallies, ethnic festivities, conferences, cafeteria rounds, dances, candy sales, and fielding sales reps and people with a million more ideas!

My Thoughts

The feelings I have I thought
Would never come true
I ask myself why it had to happen to you
As we all sit here and cry
We reminisce of the good times
I sit and wonder why it had to be Maybe it's true what they say
"Only the good die young."
I wish I could take your place.
Only if everyone knew how you were
Funny, caring and sweet.
I wish I could have said good-bye
But, now I can only write thoughts of you
As we sit here and cry
We'll miss you so
But as we all know
Someday, we will see you again
Until that day
We will just sit and pray
That you know the love that's shared
Because of you!

In dedication to Lance

So Long

So Long to the good times
we once knew.
So long to the days
when together we grew.
So long to the smiles
and hours of fun.
So long to our youth
with its endless sun.
So long to the glory
of those days.
So long to your bright
and happy ways.
So long to your laughter,
hello to the tears.
So long to the safety
hello to the fears.
So long to the days
made better by you.
Welcome is your love,
still felt so true.

In loving memory of Lance O. Smith

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

This year, LHS offered over 25 clubs and activities; student government, social, academic, cultural, school and community service, performing arts and publishing groups. We did it all.

Student Government

Student Government Officers for 1996
Vice-President Kerry Carney, President Kerry Simoneau, Secretary Kelly Nangle, Treasurer Kathleen Gendron, and Vice-President Alycia Ryder.

Student Government leaders served on the Headmaster's Advisory Commmitee and represented Lowell High School in conferences, community relations projects, and leadership seminars. They set the tone and provided the momentum for progress and change at Lowell High School.

Class Officers

Elected Oficers Representing the Class of 1996
President Brian Akashian, Vice-President Catie McNeil, Secretary Sarrah Siopes and Treasurer Dan MacLaughlan.

owell School Committee Advisory Panel

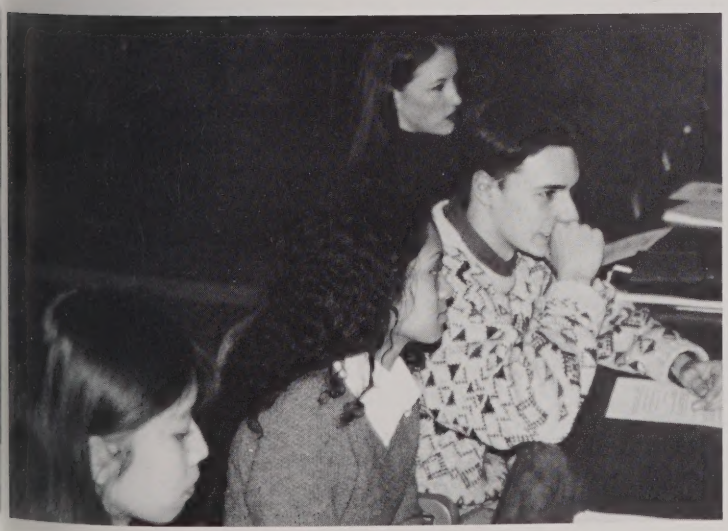
Class Officers

Elected Oficers Representing the Class of 1996
President Brian Akashian, Vice-President Catie McNeil, Secretary Sarrah Siopes and Treasurer Dan MacLaughlan.

Lowell School Committee Advisory Panel

In attendance at periodic School Committee meetings, student advisors brought LHS issues to the attention of our elected officials.



Advisory Panel 1996:
Sophy Suon, Mark Brito, Ellen Regan, Puthy Thou, Rasmei Pen and Jodie Bruneau.

National Honor Society Induction

125 Top Scholars Honored in Candlelight Ceremony

For 1995-96, 125 juniors and seniors were inducted into the National Honor Society. The LHS Chapter is one of 20,000 nationwide which recognizes students with a grade average of 90 or better at the college level and who demonstrate the qualities of scholarship, character, leadership and service to school and community.

The traditional candlelighting ceremony was attended by the families and friends of the honored students.

NHS Officers

Steve Allard

President

Scholarship means a commitment to learning...to spend hours in reading and study...to acquire knowledge with diligence and effort...to know that learning ends only with life.

Mike Dubuque

Vice-President

Service is the willingness to benefit those in need without monetary compensation or without recognition... we are committed to volunteering our time and abilities to create a better tomorrow.

Kerry Simoneau

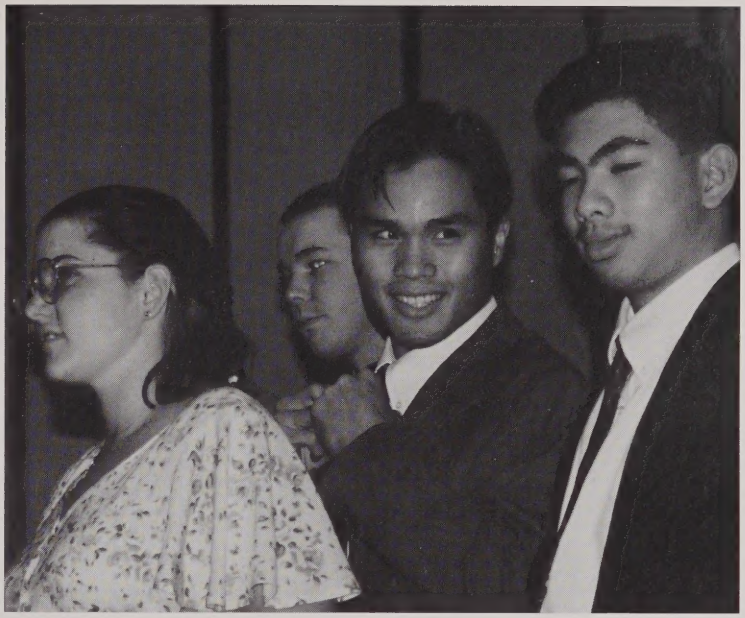
Secretary

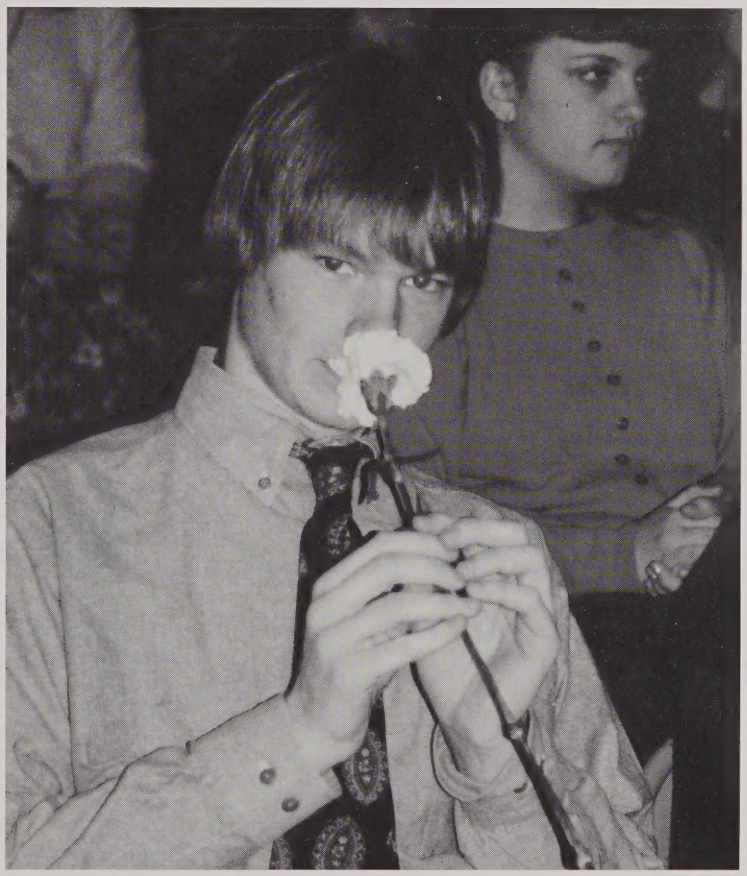
Character distinguishes a person from all others...it is achieved not received...we must be in reality what we wish to appear to others...we must demonstrate reliability, honesty and sincerity.

Sarah Norton

Treasurer

Leadership is taking initiative in class and school activities...the price of leadership is sacrifice...it is the willingness to yield one's personal interests for the interests of others.





Toward a greater appreciation of the role of science in the worl through competitions, excursions, and occasional celebrations

Science Club & League

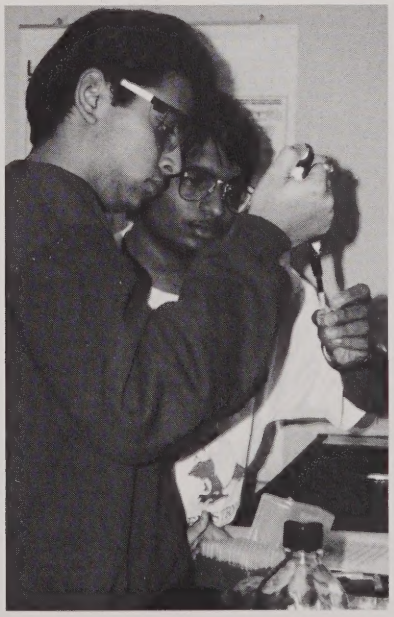
Science League Stacks up Against the Competition

The Science League competed in the West Suburban Science League against such teams as Wellesley, Needham and Wayland. Members of the Science Club also took part in City Lab at Boston University Medical School working with DNA.

In conjunction with the Math League, Science League members took 3rd place in the New England North Bowl sponsored by the U.S. Dept. of Energy.

Athena Letsou served as our dedicated advisor.

Science Club & League Officers: (Front) President Puthy Thou, League Co-Capt. Nazneen Hasan, Secretary Gayatri Patel; (Back) Vice-President April Gleason, League Co-Capt. Alan Northrup and Treasurer Priti Patel.



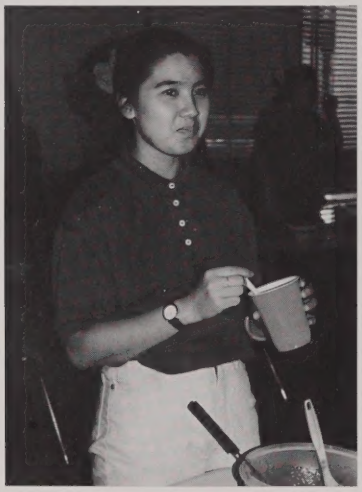
Dedicated to a better understanding of the history and culture o
many languages, the ILC offered food, fun and festive occasions

International Language Club

Varied in Background, United in Four Years of Fun

Food brought us together and friendships took off from there. We celebrated Saturnalia, The Feast of the Three Kings, Dia De Los Muertos, heard presentations from international visitors, shared good times with teachers who had been to faraway places, and sold Valentine carnations.

We ate and celebrated and celebrated and ate. We ventured to restaurants where we could only speak the language connected to the food, and traveled to Quebec for Winter Carnival.



ILC Officers 1995-96: President Jason Godbout, Vice-President Catie McNeil, Secretary Tejal Patel, Public Relations April Gleason.

The Yearbook

The Spindle 1996

The first meeting of the 1996 Spindle staff looked promising. More than 20 seniors showed up to express interest in working on the yearbook and got as far as choosing the cover design. See ya' later!

Three seniors, Kara Boisvert, Melanie Francisco and Kathleen Gendron wound up as the yearbook staff for 1996, remaining true to their word that they would put out a first class Spindle. Without their hours of hard work, typing and cropping pictures, this edition would not have been possible.

Also special thanks to ace photographer Sarah Norton. Many of her photos appear throughout this yearbook. Sarah captured the spirit of LHS and gave every moment of her time with a generous and willing heart.

This 1996 edition also marks the beginning of more and more of The Spindle being produced with desktop publishing and staffs of the future who will be trained to prepare copy and layout on the computer.

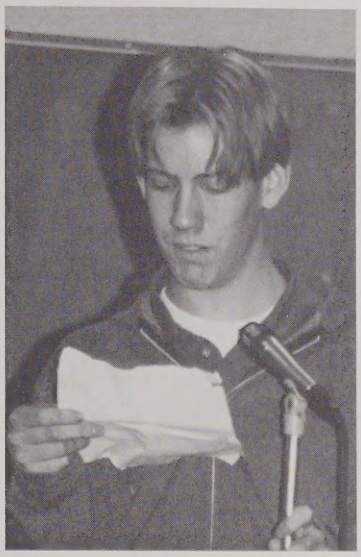
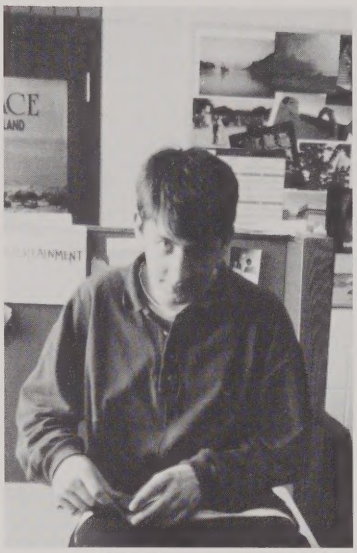
Mocha Java





Literary Magazine

This year, the Creative Writing class resurrected the 1994 literary magazine Mocha Java in a new form...as an insert to the school newspaper, The Review.

Students showcased their original poetry and short stories in three consecutive editions. The insert coincided with "reading day" in Creative Writing class, where writers found a forum to share their work, as well as a captive audience.

Though Mocha Java was open to the entire school, submissions were scarce. Creative writers came through. Sarah Norton designed the pages.

Chess Society

Mock Trial Team

This year's Mock Trial Team played off a stupendous 2nd place finish in the National Mock Trial Competition in Chicago. The team, under the direction of volunteer Attorneys Patricia Sullivan Talty and Frank Talty argued their way through Law Week and beyond, presenting a mock case involving sexual harassment in a high school. Students of the LHS freshmen clusters acted as the jury to help decide if the "mock" school was at fault.

Math League

The Math Club this year had more than 20 members who met twice weekly to further their knowledge of mathematics, take part in contests, or to get or give extra help. Each month the Club sent a competition team to take part in Massachusetts Math League meets. The Club also took part in monthly contests run by the New England Math League, the American Scholastic Mathematics Association and in periodic annual events at UMass Lowell, WPI, the National Algebra Contests, Geometry Contest and the Massachusetts Mathematics Olympiad. The LHS Team also collaborated with the Science Club and took 3rd place in the New England North Bowl, part of the U.S. Department of Energy Science.

The Competition Team 1995-96: (L-R Front) Eric Huang, Chhondeth R
Rui Wang; (2nd Row) Tony Tran, Sheila Nguyen, Maly Phon, Ouk Lu
Saroeun Noy, Cleotilde Casipe, Nupur Patel, Jimmy Rising;(Rear) De Rocheleau, Coach Mary Ellen McCabe and Coach Richard Coffey.

The Math League Motto

The initials stand for Student Conflict Resolution Experts...students serving as mediators in disputes of a varied nature.

Guided by Coordinator Yael Hurwitz and sponsored by the Office of the Attorney General, it was LHS students who managed many meetings of the minds and brought peace to some potentially volatile situations.

Solutions were negotiated; the aim was merely to prevent violence. It worked.

Senior SCORE Mediators: (Front) Aquila Black and Kelly Hoey; (Rear) Ellen Regan, Leslie Valencia and Coordinator Yael Hurwitz.

D.A.R.E.

Drug Awareness Resistance Education provided the information against substance abuse early, since the program began with the middle schools. Officers Mike Kuenzler (left) and Jack Dolan (right) were familiar faces around Lowell High School, their home base, and they made police presence a pleasure. They knew the kids, they knew the territory and they knew the answers for keeping kids straight.

Room 418 was the Review Room and a classroom... A hectic pla to spend an afternoon in a marathon layout session.

Newspaper: The Review

Orientation Day at LHS

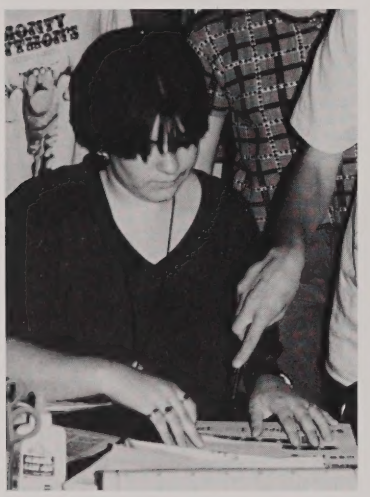
Intent on Her Work
In a typical layout and design session Sarah Norton waxes and pastes. We resisted switching to computerized layout. Some other time.



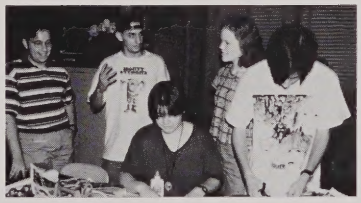
June 1995 End of the Year Party
Traditionally held at Bertucci's, we said good-by to Catherine Blair, Matt Steinberg and Renee Thibodeau. It was a wild and crazy ride in Room 418. Patrons in the restaurant couldn't guess what we were celebrating.

Recruiters
We tried to sign up the unsuspecting and were even brave enough to wear nametags at the Orientation Day fair held in the cafeteria. No matter who we could sign up though, Mike Lynch's Tops Tens would never be the same, or Steve Latessa's Music Reviews.

Looking for Filler
Co-editor Jodie Bruneau snips a last minute filler for another edition of The Review. No white space allowed! Find an ad, a doohickie, just one more brief or short....we'll use it.

Taking a Break
Co-editor Jen Burns takes a needed rest from editing and word processing. She always knew where she could find the dictionary...and where she wouldn't.

The Publications & Newspaper Class
These were the writers and reporters who submitted their articles to The Review team. They became the conscience and the voice of Lowell High.



The Layout Crew
Writing the articles was only part of the work. Then came editing, word processing, proofreading, correcting, printing, cutting, waxing, laout, stressing out and finally, distributing the paper to the student body.

A Training Session
Jodie Bruneau oversees the use of the lightbox, making sure the trainee lines up the text with those infamous blue lines. You could go blind.

Known to all as DECA, students honed their skills in business a

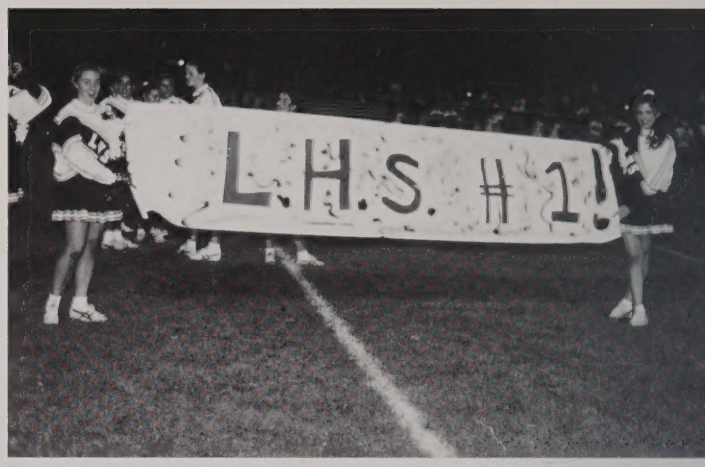
1996

Laurie Bukala and Bev Roy got ready to greet the 1995 Red Raiders as they ran onto the field at Cawley. The team was #1 to us no matter what the outcome of the game.



This was the day of the Thanksgiving Day Game against Lawrence. Seniors were really not as excited as we appeared...it was our last football game. The season ended with a bittersweet victory for us.

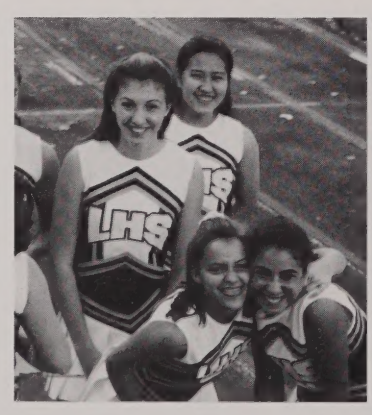
Everyone will remember our "MASS-SCOTT." Ya-ya-ya-ya!! S-U-P-E-R..... B-O-W-L!

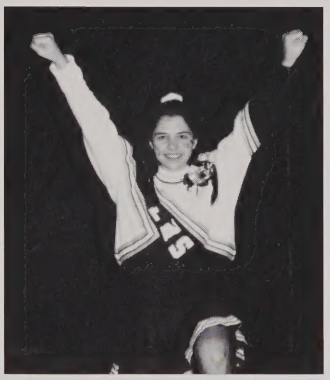


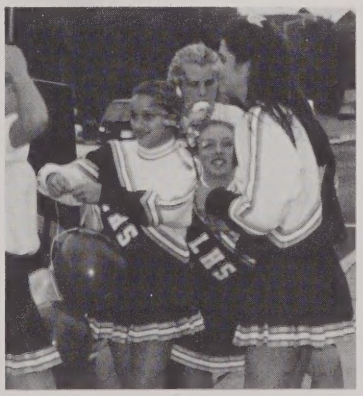
We'll never forget beating Chelmsford 27-26...New Bedford and the Homecoming motorcade...the Algonquin guys...competition...Alison is climbing... Brooke---what a character... Maybe we will be cold next year!

These were the unforgettable moments...the times that made the practices all worth it. Laurie, Alison and Jill for a last minute hug before performing.

From Football to Basketball to Competition

LHS Cheerleaders





Brooke Carson cheered on the crowd at the Chelmsford game. At least this time she wasn't flying into the trees. This was also a performance with a happy ending. Lowell beat our arch-rival Chelmsford.

Senior Alison Christopher, Laurie Bukala and Beverly Roy at the Homecoming Game against New Bedford. Even by mid-season we knew we'd miss all the LHS Cheerleaders and Sherry.

Jill, Bev, Kim, Lauren and Beth decorated Laurie's car for the Homecoming motorcade. It was fun riding all over town and beeping.

The LHSTC, as it was known, provided non-musical students th opportunity to perform on stage in both comedy and drama.

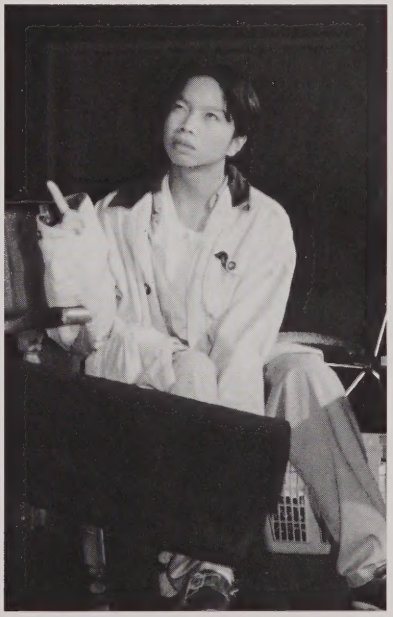
Student Theatre Company

Wait Until Dark, Waited for Clear Weather

The 1996 winter performance of the LHSTC was Wait Until Dark, the stage adaptation of the dramatic suspense thriller movie starring Audrey Hepburn. Veteran Kerry Carney directed.

Taking starring roles were: Vanna San, Jason Warner, Steve Latessa, Erin Hadley, Chris Swett, April Gleason, Dan Lussier, and Emily Norton.

Cancelled two times because of major snow storms, the play was a huge success when finally staged.



Through community and school service projects...by helping friend and students of LHS...peer leaders gave of themselves.

Educational Outreach Programs

At LHS a range of programs were offered to help students choose or prepare for careers, find part-time jobs, tour college campuses, obtain counseling or health services,give or receive tutorial help, or be guided through the college testing and application processes. Located throughout the high school, they included: ARCH, New Horizons, Healthy Life Skills, Jobs Program, Parenting Program, Project CARE, Educational Talent Search, Saints Memorial Teen Health Clinic, and the Transitional Learning Center.

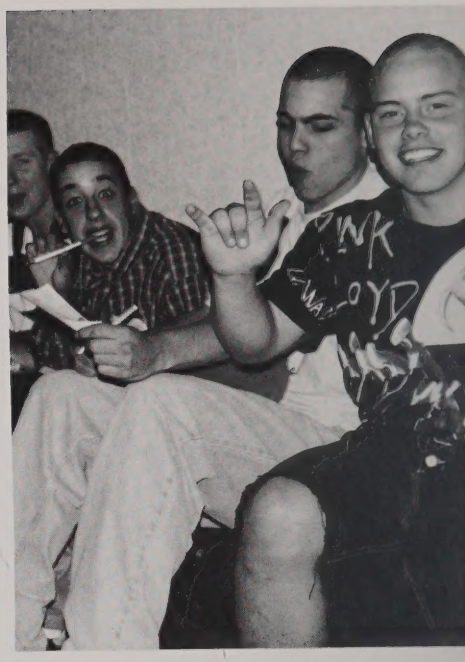
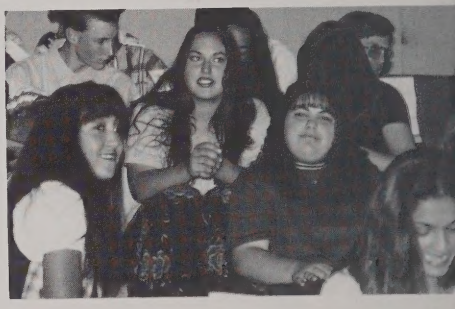
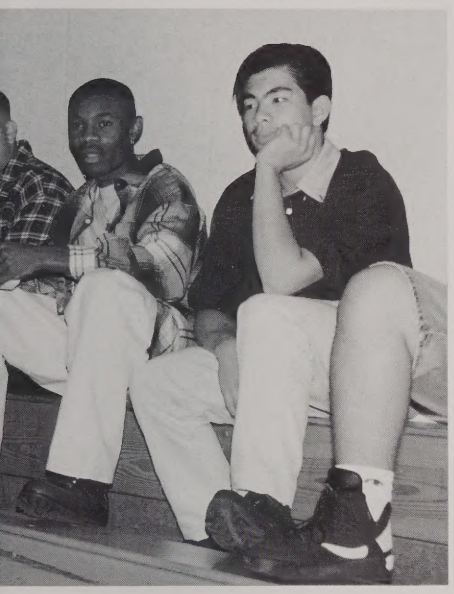
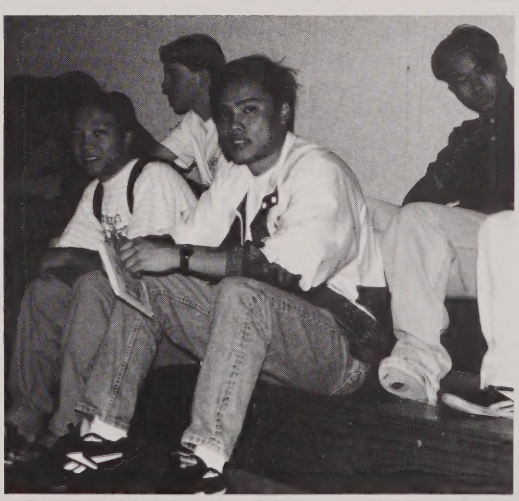
STUDENT LIFE AT LHS

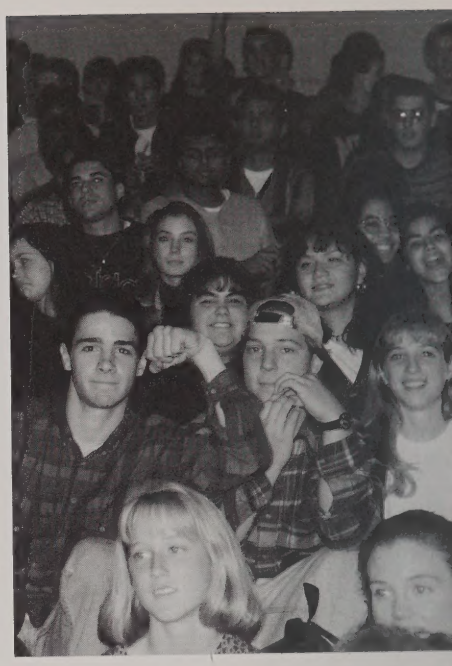
Gathering, organizing, volunteering participating, or simply being with friends; we were there to serve and show spirit. Here we are in action.

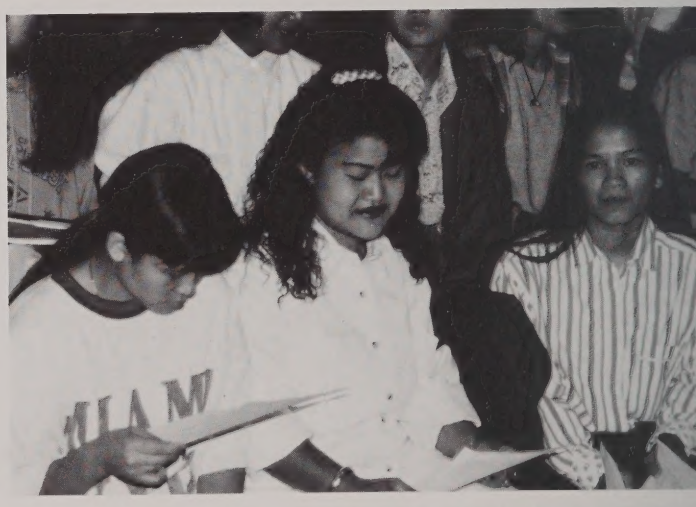


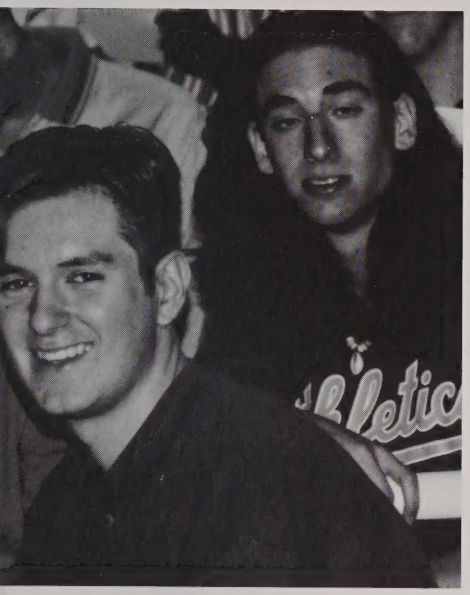


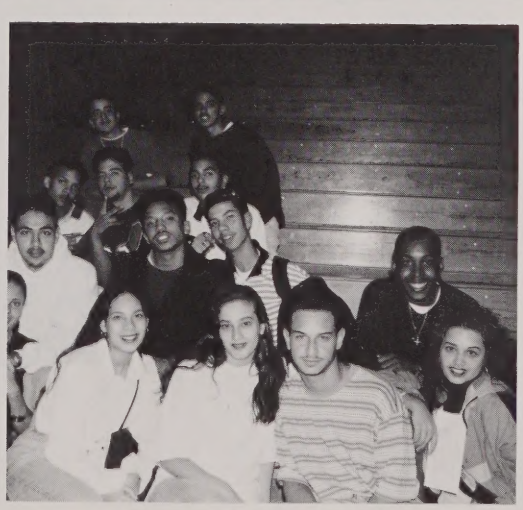












This was the crew that cooked and fed the freshmen at Boardinghouse Park. We hauled the grills, set up the coals, and flipped hamburgers for over 800 dazed and confused underclassmen. Mr. Robinson engineered the operation.

The highlight of the Freshman Picnic was Mike Marshall leading the "chicken dance" while seniors joined in. Freshmen couldn't believe their eyes. Very few got up to take part. They probably never saw anything like it!

The hamburger line never stopped. No one ever guessed what 800 hungry bodies could look like and how long it would take to feed them. Good thing it was a perfect day for being outside.

Paul Miller literally took this newcomer "under his wing", at least for the cookout.

Mr. Nelson at the mike tried to get the freshmen to imitate the seniors. They exercized better judgement and kept on eating. They were probably a little nervous that they'd come down with the same affliction.

Pitching In

Student Government helped to welcome the freshmen on their first day of school. Boardinghouse Park was the scene.

The school year began early, at the end of August, just before Labor Day. For the past four years, the newcomers had a day reserved just for their orientation. Not this year. Everyone came on day one and 2,800 students had to be juggled for meetings and abbreviated schedules. The answer was to take the freshmen to a picnic for an hour and let them relax. Mr. Nelson arranged the logistics, the hamburgers, the salad, a DJ for lunchtime entertainment, and we did the rest. We even provided some of the entertainment! The day went great. The weather was perfect, the "chicken dance" was a big hit (among the seniors, anyway) and we got to skip the meetings with our housemasters. It was worth all the hard work.

The 9th graders are probably wishing they were us. In four short years they can lead the "chicken dance."

This was the typical pileup when there was a photo opportunity. The freshmen were taken care of, the grills were on the truck, and all we had to look forward to was an afternoon of short little classes, the abbreviated schedule.

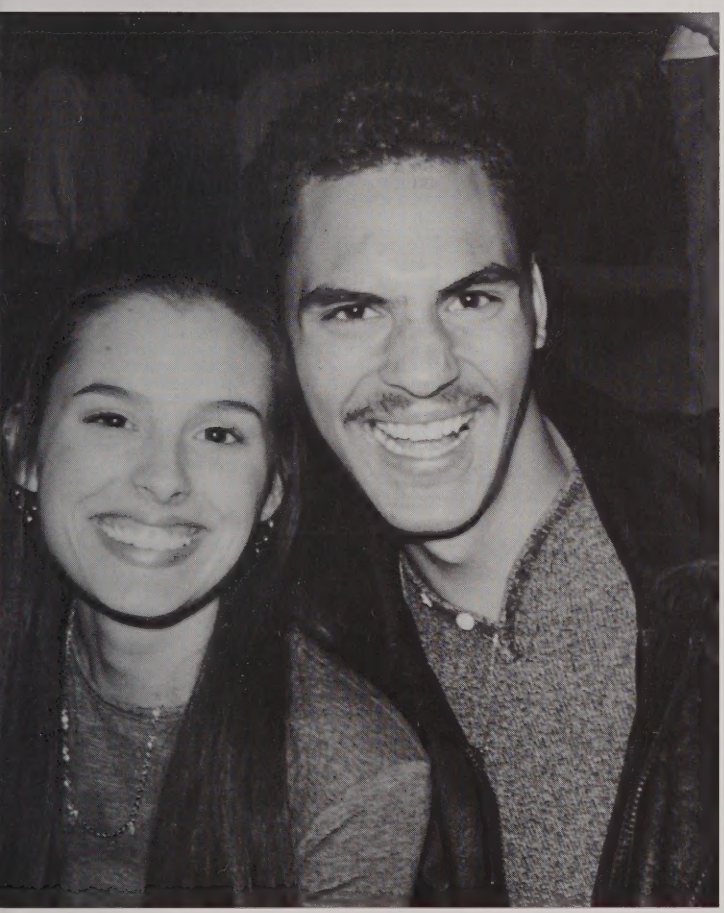
Number 52 John Florence escorts Meredith Rosenquist to the field at Cawley Stadium for presentation to New Bedford visitors and Lowell fans.

Homecoming Seniors
Meredith Rosenquist, Queen Georgia Fotopoulos and Sandra Santos were chosen by the student body as 1995 Homecoming favorites.

Grand March onto Cawley Field
Georgia Fotopoulos, Homecoming Queen is escorted to the field by Number 53 Paul Miller during half-time festivities.

The motorcade "committee" had just as much fun before the Homecoming game decorating the cars for the trip to Cawley.

Half-time Homecoming crowd awaits the start of the third quarter in our first game against powerhouse New Bedford.



1995 Courtmember Meredith Rosenquist gets a hug from her biggest and long-time supporter Jesus Garcia and friend Hector Colon.

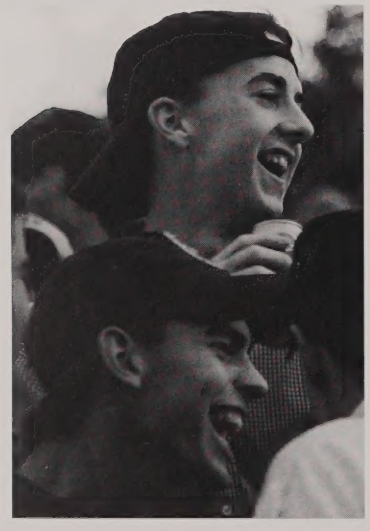
Sandra Santos, also a member of the 1994 Homecoming Court, shares a minute with LeaAnn Gagnon and Ellen Regan after completing her official duties once again at the 1995 Homecoming Game.

Senior Spirit

We were there for the excitement and to create some.

We were out front for the Pep Rally, in the stands at Cawley Stadium, and at football games away. We'd juggle work schedules and rides to the game and we'd make the weekends ours. What could stop Lowell High with this cheering section?

There we were on beautiful autumn afternoons knowing, or at least believing, we were number one. Did it matter if we lost a couple of games in the season? Apparently not.



Read the moment in our faces. We had a blast and there was no looking back, whether we won or lost...times to be remembered...

Pep Rallies: With a few minutes to go before the cheerleaders performed, we'd take a second to prepare for the senior cheer. We couldn't let the juniors get the best of us, and freshmen didn't have a clue! Sophomores were no contest either.

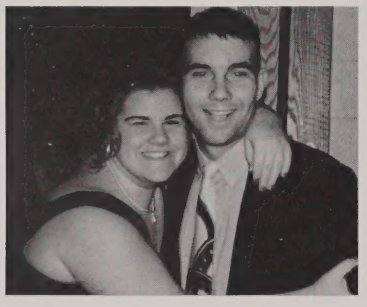
The Harvest Dance

Saturday, November 18, 1995

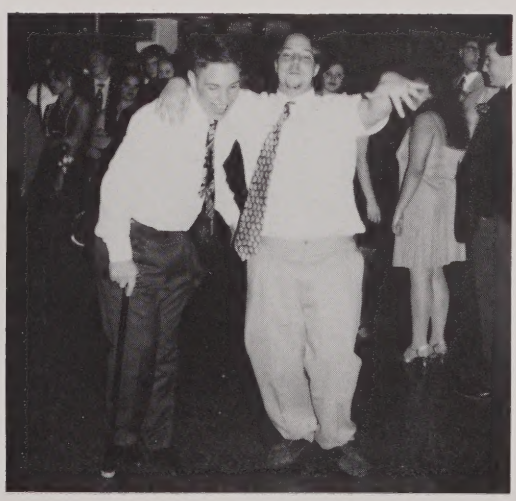
Over 400 juniors and seniors attended the Harvest Dance held at the Franciscan Center in Andover.

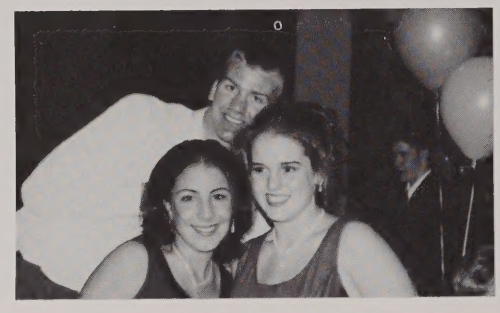
The Harvest Dance is, and always has been, the second most popular event of the year after the Senior Prom.

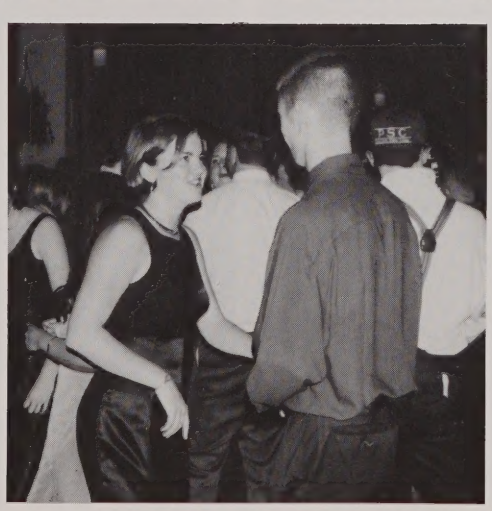


The dinner included cruise roast beef, roast turkey and a buffet feast. We danced to the music of DJ Johnny D.

After weeks of preparation, the five hours flew by.



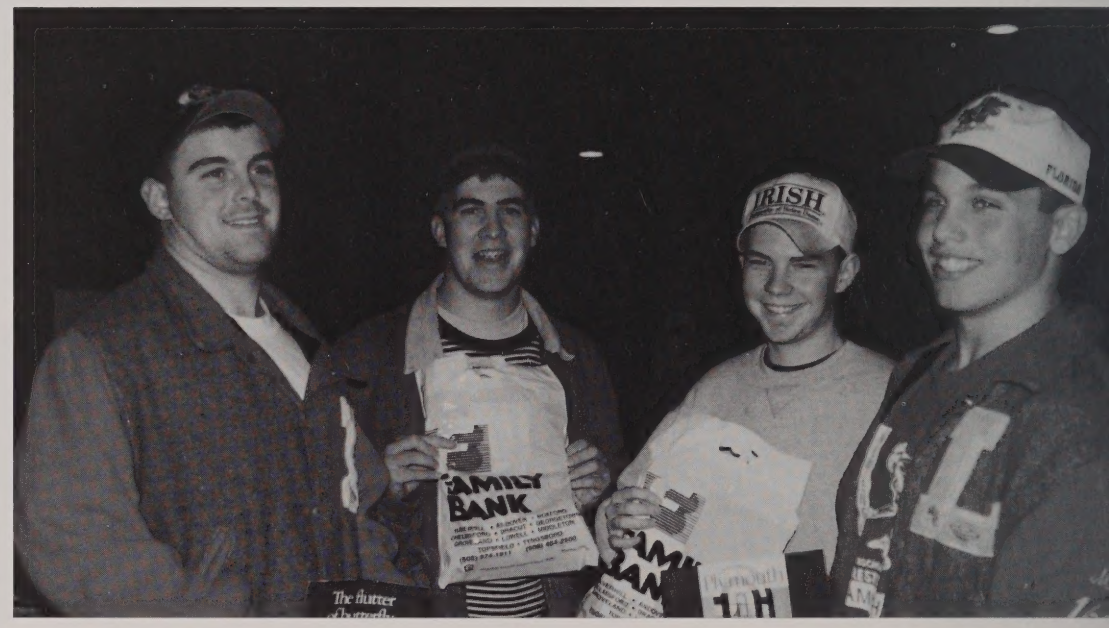


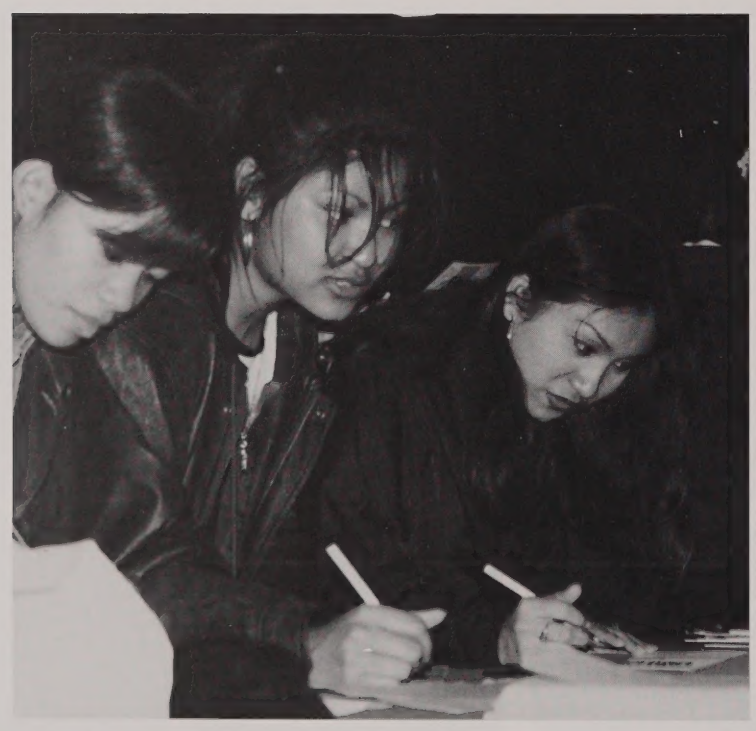


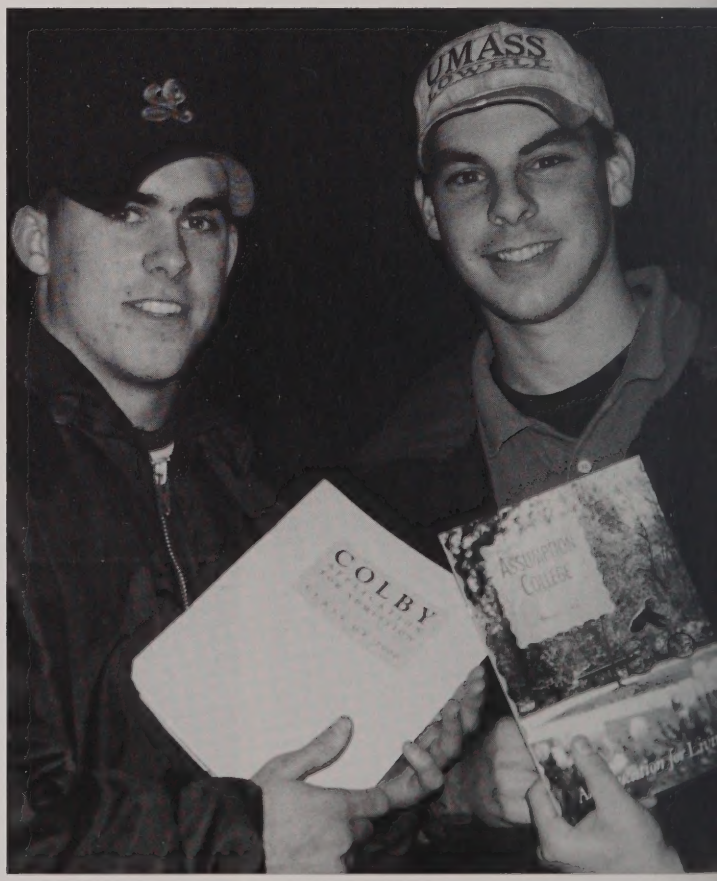
Merrimack Valley College Fair

Lowell High Hosts 14th Annual Fair in Riddick Fieldhouse

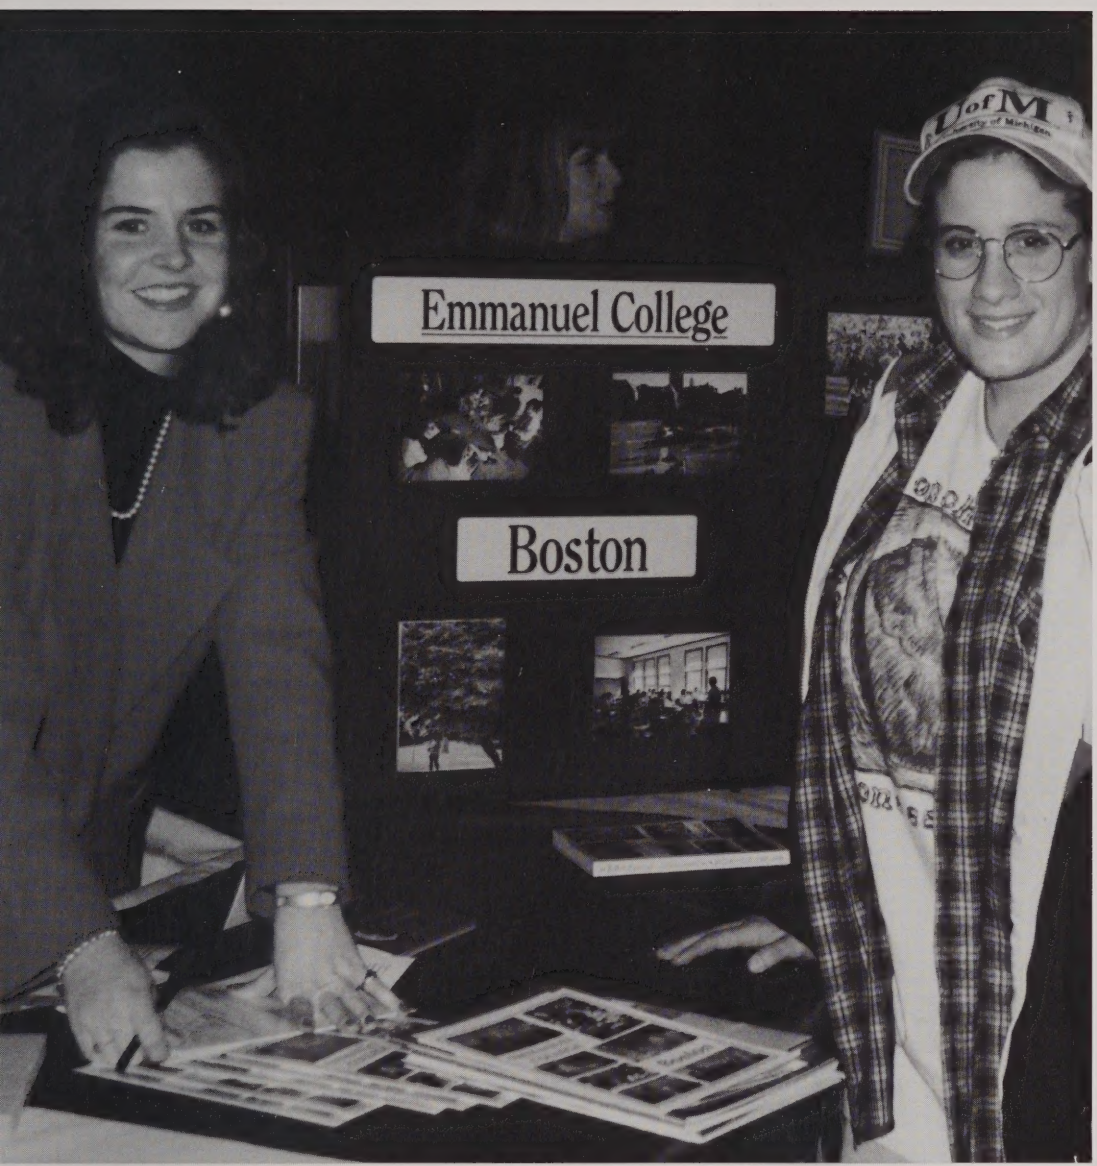
Students from 16 area high schools attended the 14th Annual MerrimackValley College Fair, sponsored by local banks and businesses. Hundreds of college hopefuls and their parents attended despite heavy rains and howling winds that cancelled many functions that night. Over 130 colleges and universities sent representatives to the Riddick Fieldhouse to lend assistance to college-bound juniors and seniors.





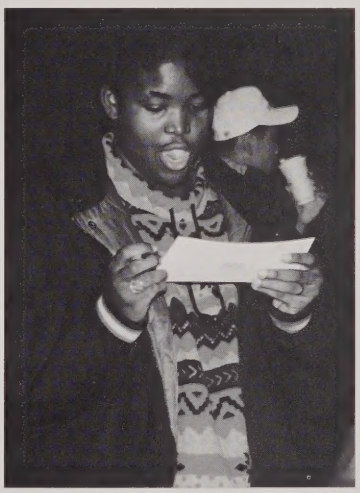


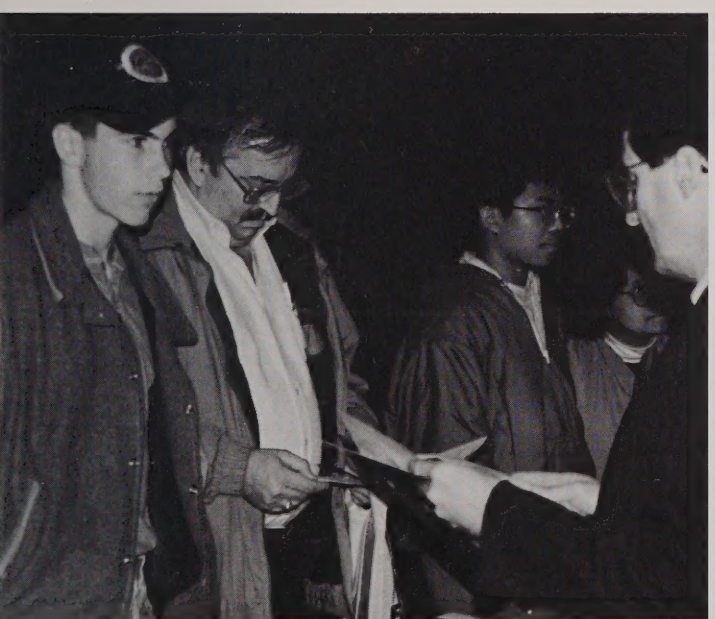
The applications, the essays, loans and financial aid forms, scholarship applications, the SAT's, the ACT, the TOEFL, the interviews, the uncertainty, the rejections, the acceptance letters, leaving home, commuting, studying, all ahead.

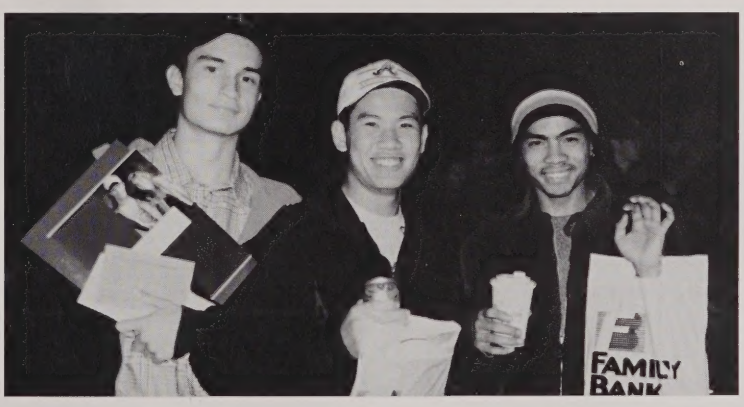


The college representatives answered our questions and sometimes calmed our fears. We had big choices to make and decision time was fast approaching, even though we weren't quite ready. It seemed like yesterday was Freshman Orientation at LHS.

The reaction to the pricetag? The SAT minimum requirement? The number of courses necessary for graduation? The size of the school? Or simply the cost of the application fee?







Give it to me straight while I still have time to find a safety school. Incidentally, are you a safety school?

Smiling because it's only November. Deadlines for some schools are still a couple of months away. Graduation isn't even close. Lots of time to decide about my future. Sure!

Lowell High students from all classes showed up at their worst.
Cross-dressers, ghouls, the retro-look, toilet bowls...you name it

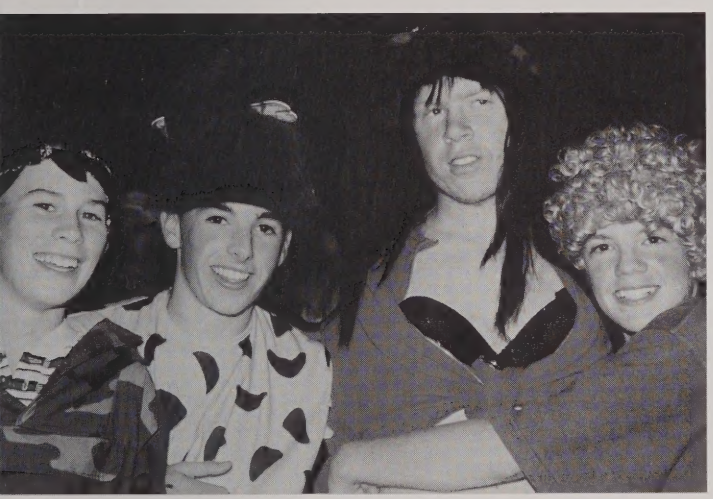
The Halloween Dance

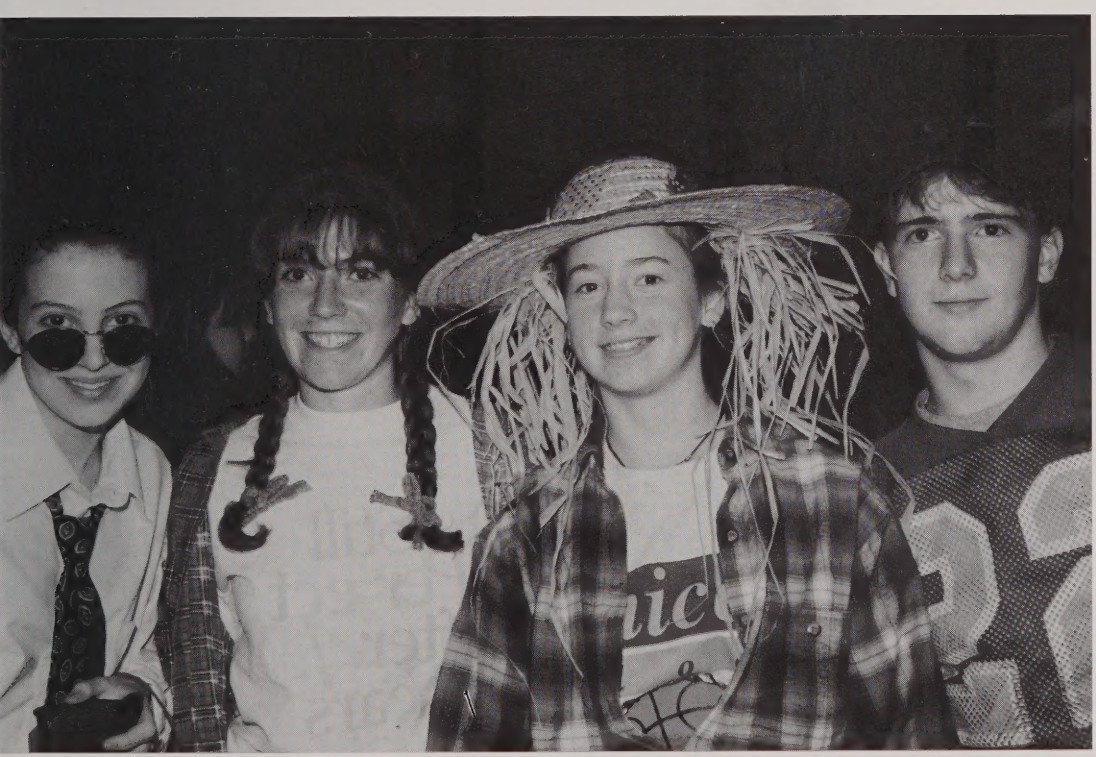
LHS Hosted a Sorry Sight for a Night

It was the first Halloween Dance held at Lowell High in a few years, but for some reason it was time to make it work.

Even though it was organized in less than two days, 200 showed up dressed in some pretty bad outfits and everyone had a great time...maybe because it was a school night!

Dances held in the cafeteria didn't always work, but this one made it and most won't forget it...unless they try hard enough.



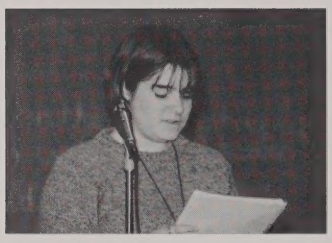


Lowell High Students Created the Mood of Popular College Coffee Houses

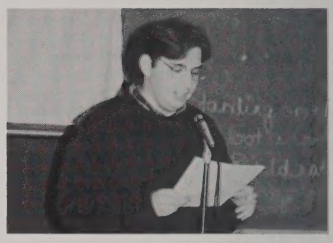
Poetry Readings

Organizer Steve McVey saw the need for poets to go public with their work. Steve turned the Little Theatre into a coffee house complete with java.

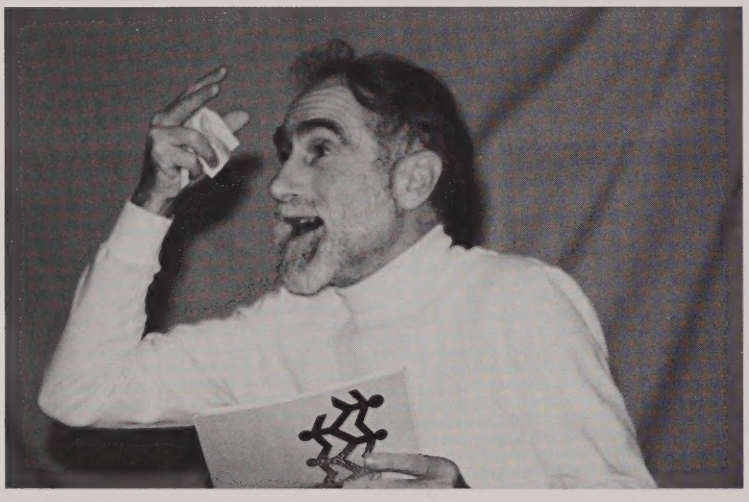
Chris Swett shared originals and published favorites. Creative writing was a favorite passtime for Chris.



Sarah Norton stole a couple of hours from her first love, photography to share her poetry. Sarah created aesthetics for the eye and the ear.

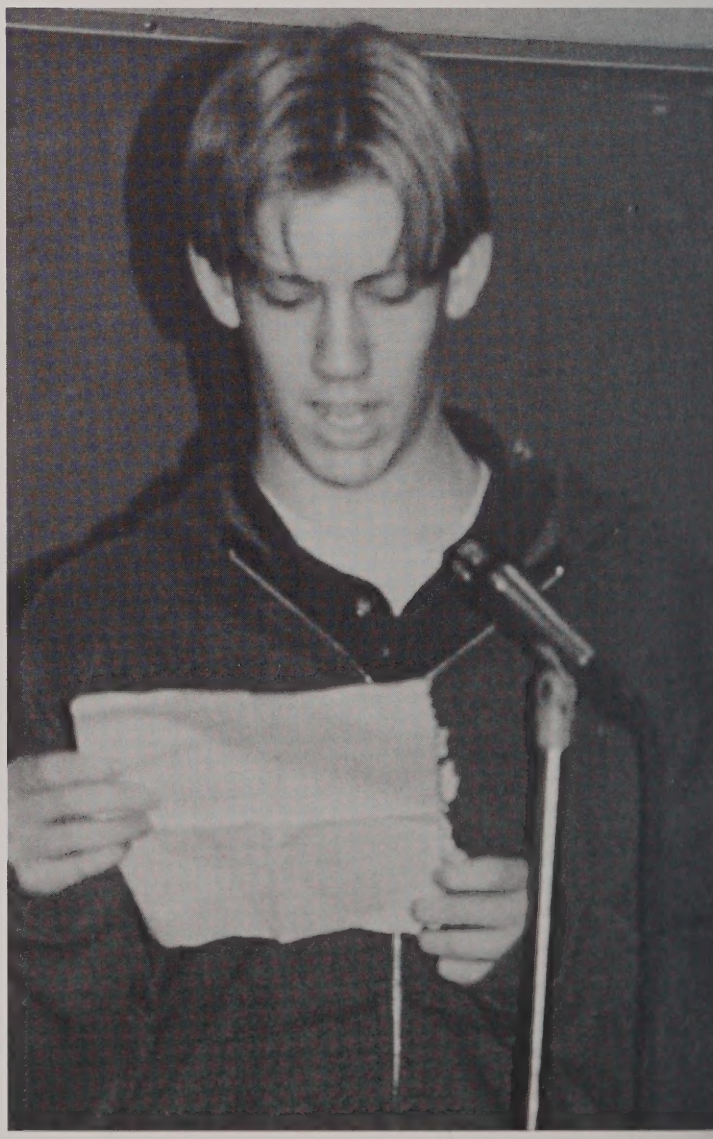


James Joyce, T.S. Eliot disciple Steve Latessa performed like a pro as the spirits of his two dead mentors inspired his readings.



Canadian poet Marcel Kopp thrilled the crowd with the performance of many of his original works and some by his writing students. Animated and intense, Kopp was an unexpected highlight for the evening.

Kerrianne Sousa shared a number of her poems, only a handful out of the countless works she has produced over the years. Kerrianne was never accused of being shy about public reading. The group was glad of that.



Creative writer and performing artist Scott Blanchette showed another facet of his usually comedic personality with an original reading pulled from his pocket.

No graduate of LHS since 1980 will ever forget...

Everyone got in on this activity!

Preschoolers at the Murkland School hosted the Christmas party and LHS showed up to play Santa...complete with presents!

Toys for Tots, LHS Style

Christmas Party Much More Fun for the Class of 2008!

In the annual Toys for Tots campaign, homeroom representatives collected donations and bought special presents for 90 happy preschoolers at the Murkland School.

This year would be a huge success as students collected enough for 140 popular gifts, more than enough for the kids who would become the class of 2008!

The surplus presents were donated to the House of Hope, the shelter for homeless families. Walter Poirier was a super Santa!

Before we knew it, we were Freshmen at Lowell High School...Turn the page to see what happened!

Freshman

Orientation Day

This was our first day at Lowell High School. Only 719 more to go! It was also the first year the faculty and upperclassmen organized the cookout, the tour, the activities fair and the house meetings exclusively for the ninth grade. See how many of us made it!

From that very first day, all we ha to hear were the words, "group shot and we assembled and smiled. It be came a natural reaction the minut we saw an opportunity to make th glass boards in the cafeteria!

Only last year we were the eighth graders, the seniors of our middle schools and junior highs. We came to Lowell High School for many reasons, and now that it's all behind us, we know why.

We made new friends right away, signed up for athletic teams and LHS activities and we never looked back. We got over our fears in no time, and we never got lost again!

The Northern Area Meet was delayed because of rain. We were the last team to get on the bus after the announcement. When competition resumed, we were the first team off the bus. We weren't going home without a trophy!

Coach Maia ran every mile with us during the week. How many Cross Country coaches are willing to feel the same pain as their runners?

The team focused on the team, not on individual success. Individual success came with team success. The goal was to get five guys across the line within one minute of each other. We accomplished that goal and became champs!

The young guys helped out the upperclassmen. Everyone on this team was a standout.

There were only ten of us on the 1995-96 Lowell High Golf Team and Coach Charlie Raras led us through the fall once again to an 8-10 season. Six seniors looked forward to graduation: Walter Poirier, Dan MacLaughlan, Brian Akashian, Matt Blodgett, Dan Morin, and Mike Dubuque. The team anticipated a painful rebuilding.

Those left behind would include: Pat Martin, T.J. McKiernan, Joe Cooper, and Andy Lefebvre. Memories: "The Boss" from Tewksbury Transit, playing "Fall Golf", Pat Martin tying the girl from Andover, Pat Martin losing to the Billerica girl, all those practices, Lefebvre's near eagle against Methuen.

Improvement & Promise in 1996

Playing in the toughest league in the state, the Red Raiders improved their record from last season to 7-13. In his first year as girls' head basketball coach, Mike Crowley, Jr. already began to turn the program around. Senior Co-Captains Chrissy Campbell and Tracey Connor encouraged the team and Liz Dubuque led the team in scoring and rebounding.

Memories: Undefeated freshman year, game composure, flooding Methuen High, buddy system in Lawrence, the hurricane in Andover, Coach Crowley's half-time lectures, James Brown is dead, I Like to Move It, twin towers, Bruises, The Dog, missing Kaela, beating Tewksbury in OT, breaking the scoring record against Dracut, not making any free throws, leaking ceiling, everybody being sick the whole season, Crowley's three's, Tracey's fouls, full court presses, stealing the CHS ball, Thursday night dinners we never had, almost beating Andover, hard practices, Sunday practices, Liz's, Tracey's and Meghan's spit, 1st girls' roundball ever, JV's never running laps, being afraid mess up, practice at t Robinson School, Coa Boyle's "suicide".

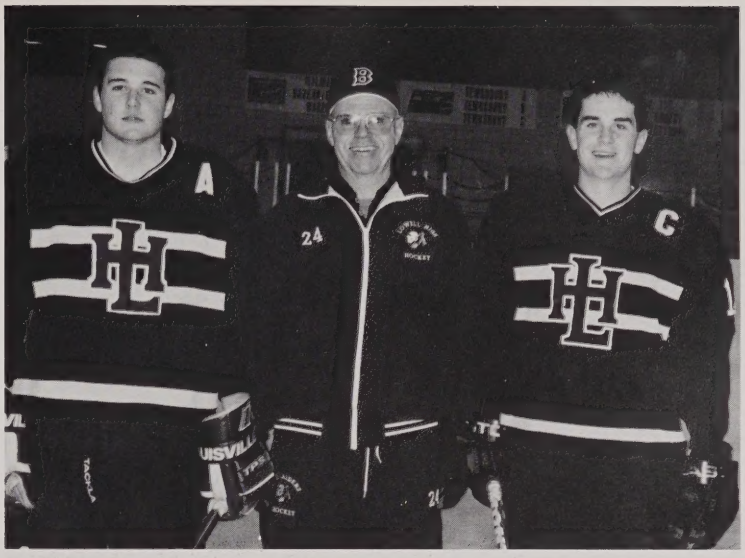
Red Raiders Hockey 1996 Style
(Below) Bill Furey worked hard on left-wing and was the team cheerleader. Bill showed tremendous dedication throughout the season. (Top) Marc Rivard capped off a fine career by skillfully patrolling the LHS blue line; (Middle) Goalies Clayton Stuart, Matt Stone and Scott Merrill; (Bottom) All-Conference member, Lowell Sun All-Star and team MVP Brian Akashian finished his senior season with 35 goals and 19 assists for 54 points, and career totals of 82 goals and 53 assists for 135 points.

Hockey

The 1995-96 Raiders were a hard-working group who came to play every night. We improved greatly over the season. Practices were intense and Coach Robinson was a terrific coach. He really knew how to get us fired up. We had to pay attention at all times...shoot-outs, one on ones, and break outs were part of Coach Robinson's repertoire every day.

We won't forget the play where Marc Rivard gave Brian Akashian a breakaway pass, tying the game with 8 minutes to go against undefeated Dracut. Akashian scored and the Raiders went on to victory!

Memories: Shootouts, Furey leading the pre-game cheer, 5-2 over Dracut...a shot in the arm for the LHS program, Brucie, BoBo Squad, Sharkies, Nummy, Stoney in net vs. Bedford, "Beaver", Flash, Coach's speech against Newton South, missing the state tourney by 2 points, the pressure cooker, cheese, one on ones at all practices.



LHS On the Ice and Off
(Clockwise) Goalie Clayton Stuart played strong between the pipes for the Raiders; Senior Captains Mark Rivard and Brian Akashian provided leadership for Coach William "Beaver" Robinson; Red Raider Seniors: Matt Stone,Marc Rivard, Brian Akashian and Bill Furey kept the LHS program going during hard times; Freshman Flash Dan Tobin was a spark for the Red Raiders' offense all season.

Indoor Track

Our pride in our team kept us going...

Indoor track is a tough sport! There is no way to hide, but the coaches were the best and they gave good advice. This year a few runners were not able to continue and the younger team members stepped in and did a great job. Since the team consisted mostly of juniors and sophomores, there is great promise for 1997.Our advice for younger players?...Practice hard and prepare very well for the meets. "The preparation for an event is more important than the event itself."

We will also remember: Basketball games after practice...throwing Millsy around...getting yelled at by Mr. Bossi every day...the Falmouth girls, driving home with Phil Maia after meets, muggings outside of the Reggie Lewis Center..."What a great location for a million dollar track!"

We had a great meet against Central Catholic. Everyone stepped up to do his best and take Central to the relay.
